Having read John Fante's 'Ask The Dust' I can now see why it is heralded as an American Contemporary Classic. This book is both surprisingly witty and at times downright depressing with the main character, Arturo Bandini (to be pronounced in the voice of Bukowski in the preface) set on his dream of becoming 'the greatest writer the world has ever seen'.

And my introduction to the fiction of John Fante is Ask the Dust, his 1939 novel considered by some scholars and educators to be one of the best works of fiction set in the Great Depression and the best set in Los Angeles. Superlatives like those could work against the book's vitality, which is palpable.

It is mostly an autobiographical account of Fante coming West as a young man. Near fine book with very slight foxing of the front and back endpapers in a good dust jacket which is missing 1/2" of the top spine and 1 1/2" of the bottom. Also 2 1" chips to the top of the front cover and another 1/2" chip to the top of the back cover.
