Vita Brevis: A Letter to St Augustine - Wikipedia

Jostein Gaarder is hit-and-miss for me at the best of times, and this wasn't the best of times. Vita Brevis is the fictional letter (complete with frame plot about finding it in an old book store blah blah) of St Augustine's wife to the man himself after he became famous. It's St Augustine fanfiction. Not my genre.

novels, short stories, and children's books. Gaarder often writes from the perspective of children, exploring their sense of wonder about the world. He often uses meta-fiction in his works, writing stories within stories. Gaarder was born into a pedagogical family. His best known work is the novel Sophie's World, subtitled "A ...

Jostein Gaarder (Author of Sophie's World)

In 'Vita Brevis', she writes to Augustine many years after their parting, about the history of their relationship and its cruel end. She also gives a detailed response to Augustine's 'Confessions'. The lack of context-setting and 'period detail' in the letter irritated me. I wanted to know about Floria's family and place in the social structure, about how she became literate and able to ...
